Bus Brakes Fail on Hill Here

Forty-five Elkhorn City High School football players and students were on this Pike County school bus, Friday night, when the brakes failed while the bus was descending a steep street in Hazard enroute back to Elkhorn City. The bus missed a sharp turn and crashed into a utility pole, damaging the front but without injuring the players or the driver, William True. The bus was left in Hazard at Davidson Motor Co. for repairs and the team taken home the same night in another bus. John Davidson, of the motor firm, said he could not tell whether the bus had undergone a safety check recently. Herald Photo.

New Gas Field Found In County

New Well Drilled at Laurel Branch To Serve Demands of Hazard Area

A 300,000 cubic foot gas well was struck here, Thursday evening, on property located within one mile of the Perry County Courthouse.

The high pressure well, located on property owned by McKinley Combs, is on Laurel Branch. Combs said the well "thundered dirt and debris over a wide area after coming at 5 p.m. from a depth of 2,838 feet."

The well was drilled by the T. C. Spraglin Drilling Company, of Martin. Gas from the well will be purchased by the Hazard Gas Company. Spraglin, from Martin, is a banker there and a stockholder in the Hazard Gas Company.

For Hazard's Use

Milt Martin, manager, Hazard Gas Company, said the gas will be retailed in Hazard and used to supplement the city's present supply out of Clear Creek, Emalsena and Dwarf.

Martin said the well was a "good well ... a little better than average." He said the well should more than meet the city's demands even in an emergency.

He announced the company will start drilling on a second

Enrollment May Set New Record In City Schools

If fifty students enroll tomorrow as expected by City School Superintendent Roy Eversole, a new all-time record will be set here for the Hazard city schools.

Superintendent Eversole announced enrollment figures for this morning at noon today.

They are, by school: Walkertown, 458; Lothair, 247; Upper Broadway, 360; Walkers Branch, 18; Liberty, 135; Lower Broadway, 414; and Hazard High School, 410; for a total of 2,042.

Eversole said that because today was Labor Day and some parents and their children were out of town, at least 50 students are expected to enroll tomorrow, for classes.

Seven Hazard Kiwanians made an inter-club visit to the Jackson Kiwanis Club, Thursday night. I. A. Bowles, of Hazard, addressed the club on "Highlights of the Chicago Convention."

Attending from here were Bowles, L. T. Whisman, C. B. Caudill, J. F. Brophy, Russell Muncy, P. B. Huff, and Frank P. Baker.

The Jackson Club will visit here Tuesday.

Cub Scout Derby

The first Cub Scout Soap Box Derby will be held here at Woodland Park, Saturday afternoon, at 4 p.m. Nolan Hayes, Cubmaster, reminded the public today.

Participating will be cubs from the six dens in Hazard, that make up Pack 91 of the Bowman Memorial Methodist Church. Each den will enter a "racer," comparable to the ones used in the national soap box derby.

A single elimination will be used in the tournament. In the opening round Den 2 will meet Den 5, Den 3 runs against Den 1, and Den 4 against Den 6.

Judges for the races are Morgan J. Ozee, Edwin G. Holliday and Fred W. Lught Jr. A trophy for the winning den will be presented by the Hazard Herald.

Prior to the races, cubs will participate in a flag-raising ceremony, and merit awards earned by the Cubs will be presented by the Cubmaster.

Inspection of cars by the judges will precede the races. Cubs attending the races are expected to be in uniform.

Ceremony Opens New City School

Hazard took another giant step forward Saturday night when the new Walkertown elementary school was officially dedicated, and today it is in use by 425 children for the first time.

The dedication climaxed years of planning by the city school board and opened the door to an exciting new era in city education. More than $340,000 went into the building and equipping of the 15-room school. Four of the rooms were built in 1952 as an addition to the old building, recently torn down.

Over 200 parents and friends gathered in the new school's elaborate cafeteria-auditorium to hear school board members comment on the opportunities the school will offer to coming generations.

Over 200 parents and friends gathered in the new school's elaborate cafeteria-auditorium to hear school board members comment on the opportunities the school will offer to coming generations.

The building is modern in every way. Completely fireproof, the rooms and halls are painted in gay pastels and furnished mostly with light, new desks. Many rooms have room-length bulletin boards, and the first grade has its own private bath.

The cafeteria is in the bottom of the three level building, a large room with removable tables which is quickly transferable into an adequate auditorium or all-purpose room.

Plans for renovating the eroded school playground are underway, and at present call for the construction of retaining walls to level the area into regulation athletic fields. The school has a combination band room and football room, something many high schools are without.

Superintendent Roy G. Eversole briefly traced the evolution of the Hazard school system. Construction of the Lower Broadway Building in 1912 marked the beginning of separation from the county schools, he said, and the construction of the high school building in 1924, the old Walkertown school in 1926, Lothair School in 1931 and Liberty in 1937 of course left the schools the independent unit they are today.

Costs Are Up He said the Lower Broadway Building in 1912 was built for $30,000, but that sum would only pay for one and a half rooms today.

Eversole gave the Minimum Foundation program much of the credit for getting the school built.

Leatherwood No. 2 Lays-off 223 Men; No Reason Given

Miners "Shocked" By Last Minute Company A'ment; No Indication Given If Move Is Permanent or Temporary

Fourteen section foremen and 209 union miners were laid off their jobs Thursday by Blue Diamond No. 2, the largest coal operation in the county and the site of a wildcat strike on August 12.

No reason, according to one miner, was given for the lay-off. Efforts by a Herald reporter to contact officials of the company have been unsuccessful.

Miners were first notified of the lay-off through an announcement placed on the company bulletin board 30 minutes before the third shift went to work.

A miner, interviewed here, said the lay-off came as a "shock and surprise" to the men. The miner, who declined to be identified, said the announcement did not indicate whether the lay-off was a temporary or permanent one for the 223 Perry, Leslie and Harlan county men involved.

He said the lay-off apparently abolished the third shift, midnight to 8 p.m., dipped heavily into the miners on the second shift, 4 p.m. until midnight and may have caught some of the men on the first shift, 8 a.m. until 4 p.m.

To the miners, all members of the United Mine Workers of America, District 30, the announcement came like a "bolt out of a blue sky," according to the miner interviewed here.

He said the lay-off was unexpected and that there had been no rumors of it around the mine.

It is not unusual for lay-offs to be preceded, sometimes by weeks, by rumors of the lay-off. He said the midnight shift had been working a five day week prior to Thursday's lay-off.

The surprise element in the lay-off indicates that it may be tied in with the "wildcat strike" on Aug. 12 which cost six men their jobs and disrupted company operations for one day.

The fate of the six men and their jobs is presently before a company-union, three-man board of arbitration.

First reports of the August strike had approximately 200 men walking off their jobs. Company officials said 30 men were involved in the sudden walkout.

The strike was in protest of the company's auger operation, a firm of automation viewed by miners as a threat to their jobs.

Augur Operation Protested Trouble in August developed when a large group of workers at the mine, reportedly 50 to 75, asked the seven or eight men at the augur mines to work only when the mine worked.

The augur men in previous weeks had been getting five phases to the program of school child protection. We don't want a child killed or even slightly injured before our intentions become clear to any irresponsible drivers.

At the same time, Mayor Combs said, parents should bear the brunt of the responsibility for their children's safety. It is unthinkable, he repeated, that any small child be sent to school without strict safety instructions, including the safest route.

Even those motorists who are careful must be on constant guard, during the times children are enroute to and from school, for that greatest killer of pedestrian children—running into the street from between parked cars.

Our schools do their part for child safety. Mayor Combs said. If parents and motorists do their part, we will avert traffic tragedies among our school children.

While most drivers realize their responsibility in the matter of school children, squad cars will patrol all school areas to lend emphasis to the program of school child protection.

Our local drivers must realize the necessity for slow and careful driving, not only past school buildings but along the routes taken by school children before and after school and at noon.

Old Age Law

It will not be necessary for people who are getting social security benefits to take any action at all to get the monthly increase which has just been provided by the Social Security Amendments of 1958, according to Mrs. Alma D. Knox, District Manager of the Hazard Social Security Office.

The first month for which the increase is payable is for January, 1959. The increase will be added automatically to that check which will be received in February.

Mrs. Knox said there are several other changes in the law which will require people to see social security representatives. Inquiries about the automatic increase will slow down efforts to start payments promptly to the people who can now get payments for the first time.

In regard to the other changes in the law, Mrs. Knox explained that as her office receives full information about them the changes will be listed in this newspaper. It will be several days before full instructions will be received in the Social Security office but as they are received the public will be notified as soon as possible.

Alexander II Portrait Given To Society

By Charles F. Hinds

Frankfort, Sept. 1 — Two years before Czar Alexander II of Russia was assassinated, the museum of the Kentucky Historical Society was begun in Frankfort. One of the first gifts presented in that year to the infant museum was the portrait of the Russian emperor, painted by the Russian portrait painter, Federov. The portrait was presented to the society by General Cassius Marcellus Clay of White Hall, who had received it as a gift from Alexander when Clay was minister to Russia.

Irony of History

History sometimes presents lessons in irony for its students. Czar Nicholas I (1825-55) was what might be called a typical Russian autocrat. For him personal rule was another aspect of military discipline. Any criticism of his will was construed as rebellion. Under Nicholas, censorship was rigidly enforced. Even musical compositions were examined by the censors for signs of secret codes. Spies were placed in each of the universities because Nicholas suspected all of them being hotbeds of conspiracy. No Russian was allowed to enroll in a foreign university, and the enrollment in Russian universities was drastically reduced. The secret police, known as "Third Section," were notorious and hated for their extensive powers to arrest and punish without warrant or trial.

Czar Nicholas I died a natural death but his successor, Czar Alexander II, a benevolent ruler like the Enlightened Despots of eighteenth-century Europe, was murdered. In 1861 Alexander II emancipated some 47,000,000 Russian serfs, who hated him ever afterward for doing so. Three years later Alexander had the law codes of Russia revised, based largely on English and French models. In the same year, two types of local assemblies called zemstvos were created in answer to a rising demand for parliamentary rule in Russia.

Reform and Revolution

But revolution and revolutionaries stalked Russia early. Alexander II did not go far enough with his reforms to suit the nihilists and the anarchists. Several attempts were made to assassinate him. Finally, two terrorists succeeded March 31, 1881, in murdering the Czar friend of Cassius Clay, the Russian emperor, whose portrait was hanging in the Kentucky Historical Museum in Frankfort as he lay dying, thousands of miles away at St. Petersburg, in the pool of his own blood.

Bulldogs Failed To Impress In 40 - 0 Win Over Elkhorn

A vaunted Hazard High School eleven posted an unimpressive victory at Collins Field, Friday night, rolling 40-0 over the undermanned Cougars of Elkhorn City.

Pre-season favorites for the 1958 Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference crown, the Bulldogs scored one touchdown in each of three quarters and struck for three touchdowns in the second stanza.

Klingpin in the Hazard offense was Astor "Cat" Sizemore. The stocky, piston-powered halfback blasted for three touchdowns and kicked four extra-points.

Disappointing Performance

The final score, Sizemore's running and defensive work, the passing of Quarterback Ken Cobb, and the line play of Tackle Harmon Petrey and Guard Jim Crutchfield were the only shining lights in an otherwise disappointing performance by the squad rated by many as unbeatable.

Elkhorn City, regarded this season as a conference doormat, got good yards against the Bulldogs, both on the ground and through the air. But for the inexperienced fingers of Cougar receivers, the aerial yardage would have been larger. At least four sure passes were dropped.

The Cougar line also showed up amazingly well against the Bulldogs. Midway in the third quarter, Elkhorn City, behind the running of Eddie LoLar, Harold Matheny and Roger Sykes, marched from its own 12 pass play with Haliburton gath- yard line to the Hazard 30 be- fore losing the ball on a fumble. Hazard got its fifth touch- down on the opening series of downs in the second half.

Sizemore Gets First

The Bulldogs wasted no time getting their first touchdown, Sizemore blasting over and then adding the first of his and Haz- ard's four extra points.

Early in the second quarter, the Bulldogs capitalized on the Cougar fumble and raced for 26 yards in 7 plays to the Elkhorn one and then sent Handy into paydirt.

Cobb Throws For Two

Hazard next two touchdowns came on the aerial wizardry of Cobb. The versatile Bulldog signal-caller on the first pass of the game hit end Wendall Combs on the 15 yard line from where he dashed over standing up. Combs outfoxed the entire Elkhorn secondary, racing in behind it to be alone and free for the 32 yard play.

Moments later, Cobb teamed with Right End Decourse Haliburton for a 29 yard touchdown while attempting to pass for losses of 2 and 7 yards, ended the evening with a 3.3 average while running for 20 yards in 6 tries. Fullback Buddy Smyly carried three times, getting 14 yards for a 4.3 average. Reserve Halfback Darwin Turpin got 7 yards on one run, and Halfback Phil Turner, a stalwart for Hazard on defense, picked up two yards in his only offen-

Fumble Sets Up Final TD

An Elkhorn fumble on the 39 yard line set the stage for Hazard's final touchdown.

The Bulldogs, with Buddy Smyly, Sizemore and Handy totting, rushed to the 25, from where Handy picked up 8 and 6 yards on consecutive runs. Sizemore blasted for 8 more yards and then covered the three yards remaining by roar- ing over center.

Leading ground gainer for Hazard was Sizemore with 81 yards on 10 runs for an 8.1 average. Handy smashed for 62 yards in 11 tries, getting a 5.6 average. Cobb, trapped twice while attempting to pass for Hazard High School Halfback Britt Handy blasts for yardage in the Bulldog's 40-0 victory over the Elkhorn City Cougars, Friday night. Hazard opens practice today for an important conference engagement, Friday night, here against Jenkins, again a powerhouse in the E.K.M.C. Hal'Cooner Photo.

Pirates Lash M. C. Napier 26-0

Fleming, Aug. 30—Danny Tackett, a converted end playing quarterback, blasted for three touchdowns here tonight as the Fleming-Neon Pirates of Coach Jack Hall opened their 1958 season with a 26-0 conference victory over the M. C. Napier Navajos.

Twisted from scoring in the first quarter after recovering a Napier fumble on the 12 yard line and going to the three, Fleming marched 52 yards early in the second stanza to score the first of their four touch- downs, sending Tackett over from the 1 yard line.

Tackett Gets First TD

Seconds before the half, the Pirates roared for a 12-0 lead with Tackett reeling around end for 31 yards, and then blasting over center from the 1 yard line to score.

The Pirates got No. 3 by pouncing on a fumble on the Napier 12 yard line, and then reeled out three plays through the line to the 1, from where pint-size, 130-pound, "Peanut" Hall scooted over off tackle.

The Pirates marched 79 yards for their final touchdown with Tackett going over from 8 yards out after the talented Pirate quarterback had passed to Halfback Gary Sergeant for 21 yards of the excursion. Sergeant also whipped out a 33 yard run in the touchdown march. Napier, which showed strength in Hazard last week defeating the Leslie Eagles, 35-13, was not up to it tonight.

The Navajo ground attack was kept outside the Pirate 40 yard line until late in the third quarter when they marched to the Fleming 30 against reserves before losing the ball on downs. Napier was held to 76 yards on the ground while the Pir- ates, running out of the split and straight T, racked up 331, largely on the polished leader- ship of Tackett.

Tackett, 107 Yards

The sensational Fleming quarterback skirted the ends, plunged over center and roar- ed off tackle to amass 107 yards on the ground for himself. A workhorse for his team, Tackett carried the ball 16 times and ended the evening with a 6.8 average. He was surpassed in averages by teammate by Roger Elkins, 155-pound halfback who posted a 9.5 average running for 67 yards in seven carries and Sergeant, who posted a 13 yard average, getting 41 yards in 3 runs. Hall ran for 20 yards in 6 tries for a 3.3 average, and
